Leading Edge Alliance Named Third Largest International Association

Kreischer Miller | Horsham, PA

January 9, 2009 – Kreischer Miller, the largest locally owned accounting, tax and consulting firm in the Greater Philadelphia area, is a member of The Leading Edge Alliance (LEA) ranked by the International Accounting Bulletin as the third largest international association of independent accounting firms for 2009.

In the nine years since its inception, The LEA has more than 140 member firms world wide with collective revenues exceeding 2 billion USD. There are more than 90 countries represented in the association. Members are top quality firms who rank among the best in the profession, have deep client relationships, and strong ties to the community. Kreischer Miller is proud to count themselves among its members.

“Our affiliation with the LEA and its associated members has helped to facilitate our firm’s growth and our presence in the market,” said Stephen Christian, Managing Director of Kreischer Miller. “By leveraging the wealth of knowledge and world wide resources available to us through the Leading Edge Alliance, we are able to expand our capabilities to better meet the needs of our clients.”

The LEA enables member firms to benefit from the resources of a multibillion dollar professional services organization by providing technical resources, industry specialization opportunities, professional training and education, and peer-to-peer networking opportunities. Membership in the LEA provides a unique benefit to clients, as Kreischer Miller is the only member firm in the Greater Philadelphia area and one of only three in Pennsylvania.
